

The Pedaler

President's Corner

Hello Fellow Wheelmen!

The month of May will be another exciting cycling month! There are several organized rides for the month; the first organized event is an all city ride sponsored by W.O.R.D. (Water Oriented Recreation District Of Comal County), on May 5 & 6. During the weekend, enjoy two great SAG-supported rides along the Guadalupe River with free food on Saturday. The events are courtesy of the same folks who wanted to ban cyclists from River Road just a few months ago! Now that's progress!

Bike & Hike activities are planned throughout the month of May. The first two weeks (May 1st - 16th) are designated as Bike & Hike to Work/School days. Officially, Bike Week in San Antonio begins May 12th, and runs through the 19th. With all the publicity bicycling has received over the past few months, your participation in Bike & Hike activities is a great to show your support of bicycling to the city and citizens of San Antonio. See the article on page two for the full list of the week's activities.

Last for the month, on Memorial Day Weekend (May 26th), the San Antonio Wheelmen will host a SAG-supported century ride departing from PoPos at 8am.

Riding the Ridge by Dale H. Seiler, Editor

It was the highpoint of the week for many of us over the past few years – the Thursday Night Ride (TNR) from Bracken, through Garden Ridge. It now appears to be extinct.

Most of you may have noticed this ride missing from our weeknight ride calendar (page 5), and for good reason: The City of Garden Ridge has passed their "traffic control ordinance," placing restrictions on acceptable numbers of anything except motorized vehicles that may pass through their city. This includes, but is not limited to, bicycles.

Paraphrasing the ordinance, eleven or more vehicles passing any given yet undefined point in the city within a 10-minute period each will be subject to a $500 fine, unless a permit is obtained through the city. Of course, there were considerably more than 11 cyclists on the TNR, so a permit would be necessary. But then, as some have pointed out, a permit would also be necessary for you to leave church, a little league game, or any other activity where there will be eleven or more vehicles. (The ordinance also includes "beasts of burden," so don't think you can get out of it by riding your horse or donkey). The only exceptions cited are special occasions, such as Christmas, Halloween, and funerals.

Cyclists Fare Best When They Act and are Treated as Drivers of Vehicles by Dean Lewis, Member

Texas and all other states have adopted a standard traffic code recognizing bicycles as vehicles. We are subject to the same duties and responsibilities as all other vehicle operators. We are to ride as close to the right edge of the road as is practicable. Usually, this is understood to mean riding about two feet from the right-edge of the road. This puts us into a position where drivers can see us, and gives us some maneuvering room to avoid road hazards, such as storm drains, potholes, and debris. Sometimes the problem is one of deciding what the riding surface really is. If there is an improved road shoulder or a reasonably wide surface to the right of the white line, we should use it for our own safety. If there is no safe place to ride on a shoulder or road edge, we are to ride on the road. If we must ride on the road, we must decide if the lane is wide enough for us to safely share it with a motor vehicle. If it is a wide lane, there should be no problem with a driver passing us in the lane. If the lane is not all too wide, we are to move just far enough to the right to ensure drivers do not cross into an opposing lane of traffic when passing us.

In a future issue, we will sort out some of the exceptions to the general rule of riding as far to the right as is practicable. Meanwhile, operate all of your vehicles safely, and have fun doing it.

Ask the Physical Therapist

Julie Barnett, Member & Physical Therapist

After completing my cross-country bike ride last summer, I decided as a member of the Wheelman and as a sports physical therapist, I would like to share with our cycling community. Thus was born the concept of Ask the Physical Therapist: a means to answer fitness and injury questions from the membership. My approach is based on my years as a sports physical therapist and cyclist, with a practical focus for simple, take-home tips.

Cycling is a great sport! The biomechanics of cycling are efficient, low impact, and powerful. Numerous types of bikes are available for all levels of interests and abilities - road, mountain, hybrid, trainer, upright, or recumbents. Advantages and disadvantages exist for each type of bike. That is why I am here - to answer your questions about problems or health questions you have about cycling and fitness in general. The good news is if you are having pain, over 50% of cycling injuries can be self-treated and less than 25% require medical intervention.

Why choose cycling? The low impact is one good reason. Cycling on a level surface creates 1x your body weight of force through the leg, which is less than walking! Running creates anywhere from 3 to 5x more impact through the leg. Cycling, therefore, offers "relative rest" for your aching joints. But you must make sure your bike fits properly to your body type to achieve this resting zone. The most common bike fit error I see is seat height adjusted too low. You should have no more than a 35-degree knee angle when your foot is in the 6 o'clock position or you put yourself at risk for knee pain. Adjust your saddle height in quarter-inch increments for best results.

Julie Barnett has been a physical therapist (PT) for 16 yrs, in private practice for 11 yrs, is adjunct faculty for the UTHSC PT San Antonio School, and specializes in sport and spine musculoskeletal injuries. Write to her with your cycling and health related questions at JBBarnettPT@msn.com. Questions and answers will be chosen from your inquiries for the monthly Peddler's newsletter. Despite Julie's qualifications, she is not a medical doctor. Therefore, neither Julie nor SAW are deemed liable for advice or information given contrary to that of a certified medical doctor, or from damage incurred as a result of advice or information given herein.

safety bits

Go on any group ride with us, and you will be awash in logos of cycling-related equipment: Sella, Campagnolo, Giro, Cannondale, just to name a few. These logos are easily recognizable identifying marks, and in the event of an accident, the responding paramedic would instantly be able to tell just how discerning a cyclist you are. They will not, however, know anything about you, your blood type, or if you are allergic to certain medications. You need to have your own ID.

A good ID can be simple or extravagant. It should be relatively small – about the size of a business card – with information typed or neatly printed.

Information should include your name and telephone number, emergency contact(s), medical insurance information (provider and policy number), blood type, and any other important medical information that might be needed in the event of an accident. A photograph is also a good idea, but not entirely necessary.

Once you have everything ready, take it down to Office Max or Kinko's and get it laminated. This will prevent tearing, smudging, and other potential damage from bouncing around inside your blowout bag.

Manufacturer's go to great lengths to inform others to ensure their longevity and survival. By carrying a detailed ID card, you give the necessary information to help ensure your longevity and survival.

In the interest of the safety of our members, we have decided to nix the TNR from Bracken, and instead ride out from Specht's, north of Blanco & 1604. The terrain is far more challenging, and the atmosphere is far more friendly. The fate of the Pasta Pedal and other group rides through Garden Ridge will be decided at the next Wheelmen board meeting, and we will pass this on to you once we've had time for discussion.

Of course, you are still free to ride where you like, when you like. Just exercise caution and the good judgment cyclists are known for.

Other news:

Bike Lobby Day was held on April 9th. The Texas Bike Coalition organized Bike Lobby Day to meet with state legislators to promote bicycling safety and be heard on issues relevant to cycling. Martha Espinoza attended Bike Lobby Day and observed Senator Wentworth meeting with several cyclists from San Antonio. Martha commented Wentworth was "stone-faced" during the meetings. On the 10th, Wentworth was quoted saying he intends to revise SB 238 to leave it up to the local communities to pass legislation, as they deem necessary to promote bicycling safety. This is not a good approach, and will be even more difficult to monitor and control. We will keep you posted about the legislative activities of Mr. Wentworth. In the meantime, be sure to write your state senator and congresspersons to support the Matthew Brown Act, filed as HB 2203 and SB 1372, promoting cycling education and safety, as well as your opposition to any revision of SB 238. It is important to continue to show our vast network of support for good bicycle laws. For more details and the latest information on these bills, visit www.biketexas.org.

In Garden Ridge, the parade/crowd ordinance was passed by the Garden Ridge city council on March 7th. The new ordinance defines the number of "vehicles" or "beasts of burden" to eleven or more; pedestrians, 25 or more. Passing an undefined point within a 10-minute period makes offending parties subject to a $500 fine, unless a permit is first obtained from city hall. Exceptions to the ordinance include seasonal activities, such as Halloween and Christmas, and funerals. This ordinance will affect how we start the Caparelli's Pasta Pedal, or if the ride can even be held. In the next couple of weeks, we will communicate a ride proposal to Garden Ridge and determine if it is possible to have the Pasta Pedal without having to pay for a permit. Again, we will keep you posted. Please note the Thursday leaderless rides now start at Specht's Store at 6pm. As a group, we are not riding through Garden Ridge until we have had a chance to talk with them.

Visit the Texas Bicycle Coalition website, biketexas.org or the Wheelmen's, sawheelmen.com, for the latest news and ride calendars. Have a great cycling month in May and remember, 'Everyday is a great day to ride your bike'.
